

Jennifer Lopez Wears Nothing But A Green Valentino Cape For Instyle Mag Cover And Flaunts Her

22/12/2018 04:55 by admin

Jennifer Lopez Is Nearly Naked on the December 2018 Cover of "InStyle"™.

JLo is glorifying gorgeous curves and we are loving it! For the Instyle magazine's December issue, the diva shed her inhibitions and donned nothing but a hot green sequined Valentino cape. It's no surprise that Jennifer Lopez has made curves a big deal and has embraced it with no regrets. She was kind of the forerunner in the embracing curvier body types' trend. And with her photoshoot for Instyle magazine, it is evident that she loves her curves and wants all the ladies out there to embrace their curves!

Jennifer Lopez celebrates her body in a new cover story for InStyle™s December Issue.

Photographed by Anthony Maule

During her interview with the mag, the hottie quoted, "I didn't realize what I was doing" I was just being myself," she says. "In my family, curves were glorified and part of the culture. It was just like, "Jennifer has a big butt, and it's good." Lopez was never fascinated by size 0, even though they were quite in vogue. "We were in the Bronx, like, break dancing." Speaking her staying true to her roots, JLo further added, "It's what I still often wear to this day, the big hoops and, you know, gold jewellery," she says. "I always like to mix the glam with a bit of the hood."

Not only does Lopez continue to look much younger than her age but continues to inspire several ladies of being happy and proud in their physique. Check out her looks from Instyle Magazine.

Speaking of fitness and the downsides of turning 50, Lopez has none of those concerns however, she did introduce weight training as part of her fitness routine since dancing makes her lose muscle. However, the entire credit goes to the habits she has maintained throughout adulthood. Her habits include no caffeine, no alcohol and lots of sleep! Her motto is simple, "I've taken care of myself, and now it shows," she says.

- Yahoo
