A veterinary student has become an online sensation after she stripped off and filmed herself riding her horse naked. Georgie Grace, 19, from Coventry, photographed herself riding her horse, Blue, wearing only her boots and helmet on November 22.

The teen decided to film her naked antics after seeing a Facebook campaign urging riders to raise awareness of always wearing a helmet.

Georgie, who studies veterinary physiotherapy, said the reaction had been "amazing".

She said: "There is a sector of British riding called British Dressage, where they used to allow people to compete in just a top hat and they recently changed that ruling so anyone who rides and competes has to wear a hat with a chinstrap as well.

â€œI thought it was quite interesting...the person who posted it said that some people still ride nowadays without chinstraps and how dangerous it is.

"I just shared the post on my Facebook and said 'if this gets over 100 likes Iâ€™ll do it on my own' - and it did so I did."

She added: "Even if itâ€™s made a few people take note, it would be worth it."

Georgie joked: "I was a bit worried the delivery driver would turn up or something but I was quite lucky no one did.

"My family loved it, they thought it was hilarious...my auntie is calling me 'Lady Godiva'.

"My friends thought it was quite funny too. In general peopleâ€™s reaction has been very positive, apart from a couple of comments that said I was â€˜attention seekingâ€™ and â€˜looking for an excuse to get nakedâ€™, which is ridiculous.

"Itâ€™s all for a good cause and if it gets peopleâ€™s attention, one way or another, it all helps to raise awareness."
