

'Guardian angel' cat stops toddler from grabbing balcony railings, win praise

24/01/2021 17:36 by admin

The undated video, which was originally shared on Reddit, shows the cat gently pawing the toddler he tries to latch onto the railing.

The undated video, which was originally shared on Reddit, shows the cat gently pawing the toddler he tries to latch onto the railing.

A house cat is being praised online as a "guardian angel"™ after a video of it stopping a toddler from grabbing balcony railings got widely shared on social media.

The undated video, which was originally shared on Reddit, shows the cat gently pawing the toddler as he tries to latch onto the railing.

The video, shared by user @buitengebieden, has garnered over 4 million views on Twitter.

Many, who came across the video, praised the cat for its intuitive move to keep the toddler away from the railings, preventing a fatal accident.

On a similar note, a tabby cat from Colombia was praised on social media, after CCTV footage emerged of it saving a toddler from falling down a flight of stairs.

- TIE